Do you know that the Humax HD-FOX T2 is the very first Freeview HD in the United Kingdom? It seems that this particular box allows you to stream videos and other content via its wired Ethernet connectivity. And furthermore, the Humax HD-FOX T2 does come with an exceptionally attractive GUI, and it can also provides fast channel scanning something that other HD services lack.

However, the Humax HD-FOX T2 is pretty expensive to purchase, whereby the company is already demanding a whopping £170 ($270) at the launch of the product.

We'll take a look at the Humax HD-FOX T2:
