Not everyone wants to shot films with an ultra-expensive piece of camcorder or perhaps a DSLR, but surely, there is a market for compact users. OF course, if you hate those gigantic devices, then I believe that you should definitely take a closer look at Coby s latest pocket camcorders, namely the Snapp series. Well there are 3 different models for the pocket camcorders, namely the CAM3001, CAM4505 and CAM5001 Snapp HD.

Also, the HD camcorders can shoot 640x480 MJPEG videos, while the lower end ones can only shoot VGA webcam quality videos. There s only megabytes of internal storage, whereby you ll have to expand the overall storage via the expansion slot.

And as for the price, the CAM3001, CAM4505 is going for $30 and $50 on Amazon, while the 720p CAM5001 HD is yours for $80. Call these craps, still it can shoot HD content though.
