

iPad Pre-order Available

Contributed by Users Idea
Saturday, 13 March 2010

Well Apple surely knows how to create a culture for their electronics. And when Steve Jobs has finally unveiled their iPad for the market, it drew thunderous attention from all Apple lovers. Nevertheless, if you are one of these enthusiastic iPad lovers, perhaps you should seriously take advantage of the pre-order option, which might be available soon.

According to Apple s website, it seems that you can pre-order the iPad today, and it will be set for delivery on April the 3rd. Also, the lowest price to purchase the iPad is $499, but if you want to include better functionalities, and bigger storage options, you can bunk the price up to $829, which I think is too expensive for an e-reader like the iPad. But surely, nothing is too expensive for Apple lovers right?